Question - 2:

Tell me what is meant by Deferred Revenue Expenditure?

Ans:

A deferred revenue expenditure is that where the benefit the expenditure can be had for more than ONE accounting period and less than FIVE accounting periods. There are no hard and fast rules that the period is lited to 1 - 5. It is just an assumption. It stands as an expired cost after the business entity has had the complete benefits. It is written off every year.

Question - 3:

Explain what is the difference between net income and free cash flow?

Ans:

Under the accrual method of accounting, net income is calculated as follows: revenues earned minus the expenses incurred in order to earn those revenues. If a company earns revenues in December but allows those customers to pay in 30 days, the cash from the December revenues will likely be received in January. In this situation the December revenues will increase the December net income, but will not increase the company's December net cash flow.

Under accrual accounting, expenses are matched to the accounting period when the related revenues occur or when the costs have expired. For example, a retailer may have purchased and paid for merchandise in October. However, the merchandise remained in inventory until it was sold in December. The company's net cash flow decreases in October when the company pays for the merchandise. However, net income decreases in December when the cost of the goods sold is matched with the December sales.

Question - 6:

Explain what do you mean by Money Laundering?

Ans:

The term Money Laundering has American origin as far as I know. Laundry is such a business which is entirely cash driven. There is no question of debots. Few people used to open laundry without actually opening it. They used to show their black money as income from business. That was very convenient way of converting black money into white money.

The term money laundering means converting black money into white money. The ways of money laundering is to open Benami (fake) bank accounts and deposit cash there and then get it transferred in your legitimate bank account.

Or opening Benami demat account, purchasing shares and transferring them in your legitimate demat account etc.

Question - 9:

Explain what are Bill of Lading & Shipping Bill. What is the difference between them?

Ans:

Bill of lading definition: a required document to move a freight shipment. The bill of lading (BOL) works as a receipt of freight services, a contract between a freight carrier and shipper and a document of title. The bill of lading is a legally binding document providing the driver and the carrier all the details needed to process the freight shipment and invoice it correctly.

When a customer books a shipment with Freightquote, the bill of lading is automatically generated based on the shipment details entered during the quoting and booking process. The bill of lading should be provided to the carrier on pick up and will be delivered to the consignee on delivery.

A bill of lading is a statement to a company of merchandise coming into the store or warehouse. It lists what items that the store or warehouse has ordered, how many palettes the items fit on, and the total weight of the shipment. A shipping bill is the document showing the company or individual the amount he/she owes for each item they have ordered.

Question - 12:

Tell me what is VAT? What type of VAT? in Tally 7.2 How's work VAT?

Ans:

VAT (Value Added Tax): It is value added Tax. means total value which is added in goods price as a profit, on that value, the tax is paid is called VAT.

we can see it with example:

goods Purchase = 20000

Input Tax @ 4% = $20000 \times 4\% = 800$

now we sold this goods

Sale = 35000

Output tax @ 4% = $35000 \times 4\% = 1400$

When we purchased Goods the saler collect a tax value from us as a sales tax. then we sold goods. we charge a tax amount in invoice. finally when we pay tax to govt.

then total value of tax payable will be : Output tax - Input Tax = $1400 - 800 = 600$.

So Nett Tax payable Amount Is Rs. 600. this amount is a part of total value added in sales price not that sales price.

we can see it : Total Value add: Sales - Purchase = $35000 - 20000 = 15000$.

and tax amount on value added: $15000 \times 4\% = 600$.

it has been proved that VAT Is an value added Tax.

Question - 15:

What is the different revenue expenditure and its treatment in accounts?

Ans:

The nature of some expenses is such that though they do not create an asset but their benefit is spread over more than one accounting period.

These are mostly non-recurring and large in amount.

In such circumstances instead of debiting the entire amount of these expenses to Profit and Loss of the year, it may be spread over a number of years with a proportionate amount being charged each year to P&L Account.

The portion that is still not charged to Profit and Loss is shown in the balance sheet on the asset side after Capital Work in Progress and is called Deferred Expenditure.

Examples are Expenses incurred to start a business, Initial marketing cost to launch a product etc.
