School Nurse Interview Questions And Answers Guide.

Question - 1:

Tell us about yourself?

Ans:

I am really energetic and a great communicator. Working in the medical field for two years helped me build confidence, and taught me the importance of patient care. I have also got a track record of success. In my last role, I juggled a variety of patient loads, assisted in a charity fundraiser and became an advocate for senior patients. Because of this, the hospital is launching a new educational program to teach nurses how to better care for elderly patients.

Question - 3:

What is your greatest failure as a school nurse?

Ans:

When I was in college, I took an art class to supplement my curriculum. I did not take it very seriously and assumed that, compared to my biology classes, it would be a walk in the park. My failing grades at midterm showed me otherwise. I'd even jeopardized my scholarship status. I knew I had to get my act together. I spent the rest of the semester making up for it, ended up getting a decent grade in the class.

Question - 28:

What motivates you to work as a school nurse?

Ans:

I have always been motivated by the challenge of a tough patient. In my last role, I came across a particular patient who refused a handful of nurses before he was assigned to me. I was able to find something we had in common, which calmed him down. After the patient saw me make an effort to better understand his situation, he became much more agreeable to my aid. I love facing and overcoming challenges on such a personal level.

Question - 29:

Describe a time when you did not get along with other nurse in school nursing?

Ans:

I used to lock heads with a fellow nurse in the ICU ward. We disagreed over a lot of things from the care of patients to who got what shifts to how to speak with a child's family. Our personalities just did not mesh. After three months of arguing, I pulled her aside and asked her to lunch. At lunch, we talked about our differences and why we were not getting along. It turns out, it was all about communication. We communicated differently and once we knew that, we began to work well together. I really believe that talking a problem through with someone can help solve any issue.

Question - 30:

What did you like least about your last job as a school nurse?

Ans:

There was nothing about my last job that I hated but I guess there were few things I liked less than others. My previous role involved traveling at least twice a month. While I do love to travel, twice a month was a little exhausting. I did not like spending quite so much time out of the hospital. I am happy to see that this role involves a lot less travel.

Question - 31:

When were you most satisfied in your job of a school nurse?

Ans:

I am a people person. I was always happiest and most satisfied when I was interacting with patients, making sure I was able to meet their needs and giving them the best possible care. It was my favorite part of the job and it showed. I was rated as "Good or Excellent" 95% of the time in peer reviews. Part of the reason I am interested in this job is that I know I would have even more interaction with patients on an even more critical level.

Question - 33:

What is your greatest weakness as a school nurse?

Ans:

I have never been very comfortable with speaking up, which as you know, can be a hindrance in nursing. Realizing this was a problem, I asked my previous employer if I could enroll in a speech workshop. He said "yes." I took the class, and was able to overcome my lifelong fear. Since then, I have made great strides in sticking up for my patients, communicating with doctors and just being a better nurse.

Question - 34:

Why should we hire you as a school nurse?

Ans:

I have been a nurse practitioner for the past ten years. My boss has said time and time again that without me, the hospital would fall apart. I have also taken the time to educate myself on some of the latest industry issues I regularly use (but did not really understand the ins and outs of). What is good enough for most people is never really good enough for me.

Question - 40:

What measures do you take as a school nurse to prevent disease among children?

Ans:

Most importantly, school nurses keep a sharp eye out for signs and symptoms of disease or any health problems. If they notice anything suspicious they report it to parents with a written recommendation to visit a specialist. Other preventive measures are vaccines administered at school and health education for the children.

View All Answers

Question - 41:

Do you think that communication skills are important for a school nurse?

Ans:

Communication and interpersonal skills are of the utmost importance. Nurses must communicate effectively with senior medical personnel and the school staff, but they must especially be good at communicating with school children.

View All Answers

Question - 42:

Are there any desirable personality traits that a school nurse should have?

Ans:

Nurses are generally friendly, caring, gentle and sympathetic. They are able to explain concepts and situations clearly, yet without upsetting patients unnecessarily. School nurses must be particularly caring and careful, since they work with children who are psychologically vulnerable patients.

View All Answers

Question - 43:

What qualifications are important for a school nurse to have?

Ans:

School nurses are usually registered nurses. They must be expert at analyzing tell-tale signs of diseases common among school children of all ages. They exercise good judgment every day in deciding whether to send a child for a check-up by a specialist.
