Question - 6:

Explain me which foundation works best?

Ans:

Foundation creates the illusion of a flawless complexion. First, you need to determine what type of coverage you want to achieve: sheer, medium, or full. Next, decide on the finish: matte, natural, or dewy. Estée Lauder has a huge variety, so they're usually my favorite.

Question - 7:

What is blunt Cut?

Ans:

The blunt cut is lopped at an angle of 0 degrees, making each strand fall at one length. Blunt cuts, often known as bob cuts, are better suited for fine-haired ladies since they create the illusion of density and volume.

Question - 13:

Tell us what hours are you available?

Ans:

Know the hours of the salon before you go for the interview. The best answer is always...ANYTIME. However, life sometimes gets in the way. My advice is to work out your issues to the best of your ability before interviewing. This can be a deal breaker. You should know by now that you will most likely be working some nights and weekends. This is a beauty career, not a bank job.

Question - 14:

Tell us what is the one product you can't work without?

Ans:

I use it with everything. Apply it on clean skin before your moisturizer, mix it with your foundation and blush. It makes any makeup look more like real skin.

Question - 15:

What is broken Capillaries?

Ans:

These tiny blood vessels at the surface of the skin appear as streaks or blotches. Most common on the face they are caused by ageing, sun and trauma. Whilst not harmful they can be unsightly.

View All Answers

Question - 16:

Cutting Line?

Ans:

This is a line that stylists determine for a particular hairstyle, and its angle corresponds with how close or far apart the layers will look. "For example, when a stylist wants to create a layered look, he will use a vertical cutting line."

View All Answers

Question - 17:

Tell us how do you help clients choose the best hair style?

Ans:

I work with clients to find out what look they are going for. If they are looking for a classic look, we will explore statement up-do or if they are looking to stand out, we will talk large wavy curls. I ask clients about the event or occasion they are styling for and we work from there.

Question - 19:

Explain me a difficult work situation and how you handled it?

Ans:

A toddler got sick in the aisle of PetSmart. The child was throwing up and crying and the mother was flustered. The mother was concerned for her child but embarrassed by the situation. I ran and got a lot of paper towels to immediately cover up the mess. I also brought a clean, damp towel for the mom to clean the baby. I stayed with them and helped mom get her child and her bag to the car easily. I then cleaned up the mess as quickly as possible. She later called the store and told my manager that she appreciated how I had helped her to her car with her sick baby and that she posted it on Facebook so others would know we had great customer service at our store.

Question - 20:

Tell us what are your goals for the future as Beauty Parlor Cleaner?

Ans:

A manager would like to see that you have thought about your future and what direction your beauty career is headed. The only wrong answer here would be "I don't know." However, she is looking for your professional goals rather than your personal goals. If you want to someday own a salon talk about the path you intend to take. Let her know that you desire to be in management to gain the experience.

Question - 21:

Tell me can I wear foundation every day? How do I stop it from slipping off?

Ans:

You can always wear foundation just make sure to wear PRIMER! You can customize the primer for your skin concern as there are so many different kinds. This is the easiest way to wear foundation so it stays put.

View All Answers

Question - 22:

What is de-pot?

Ans:

To remove pans of makeup-think eye shadow and blush-from their compacts with the intent of replacing them or corraling them in a single magnetic palette. It's like Marie Kondo's KonMari method for people who don't actually want to throw anything out.

View All Answers

Question - 23:

What means wedge Haircut?

Ans:

While a graduated cut requires a maximum angle of 90 degrees, a wedge haircut needs only 45. "The hair at the nape of the neck is cut the shortest, with layers radiating out as they reach the crown of the head," adds Penna. With that, the ends are cut at multiple angles (versus a straight blunt edge) to boost volume and movement.

Question - 24:

Explain me what did you like least about your last job as Beauty Parlor Cleaner?

Ans:

Oh, this is a tricky one. It's a setup. It is very easy to fall into this snare. People just wait for an opening to vent. But you now know ahead of time NOT TO DO THIS.

Instead of coming back with, "OH, I really hated my boss. He was such a pig!" you want to go to a task that is harmless to what you are trying to achieve. If you worked at Starbucks you had to clean, you had very busy times, it could be stressful, people complained, you may have had a bad co-worker, etc. But if you point any of this out in your interview it will look like a negative for YOU.

View All Answers

Question - 25:

Tell us what aspect of doing hair is most challenging for you?

Ans:

I am always trying to challenge myself to explore hair and makeup styles that make me a better cosmetologist. Keeping up with latest trends and be at the forefront of fashion is a great challenge for me.

View All Answers

Question - 26:

Tell us what is the most memorable job you've done?

Ans:

Whenever I work with a celebrity, it's always very special. I recently spent the day with Kendall Jenner on an Estée Lauder shoot and got to experience first-hand, the "Kendall Jenner Effect." It's great to be with a celebrity who is surrounded by so much positive light.

View All Answers

Question - 27:

What is weight Line?

Ans:

Like the name implies, this is the area in a cut that holds the most weight. Penna uses a blunt or bob cut as an example. "The weight line is at the end of the hair. But in a long layered cut, the weight line is the longest layer." If you feel that your weight line is too heavy, Penna suggests asking your stylist to blend it in with thinning shears. Another way to soften bluntness is to use "point cutting," a snipping technique that lops the ends at an angle to create a textured or feathered edge.

Question - 28:

What is clarifier?

Ans:

A clarifying shampoo is slightly stronger than an everyday shampoo and is designed to remove products, hard water or chlorine residue that have built-up over time.

These types of shampoos usually have a higher pH level and therefore should not be used regularly as they may dry out the hair and scalp.

Question - 29:

What is adrenal?

Ans:

The adrenal glands are comprised of two parts -- the cortex and medulla -- that produce hormones which regulate body functions. The medulla, or inner part of the adrenal glands, produces the hormones norepinephrine and epinephrine, which regulate the 'fight or flight' response in the body, the body's reaction to stressful events. The cortex, the outer portion of the adrenal glands, produces several hormones that affect blood pressure and blood sugar levels, growth, as well as some sexual characteristics.

Question - 30:

What are layers?

Ans:

Every cut falls under three categories: layered, one-length, or a combination of both, says celebrity hairstylist Dwayne Ross. Layers help lessen density and create movement. One-length cuts, on the other hand, add weight. To avoid confusion and hair mishaps, double-check with your stylist. Regardless of what terminology the stylist is using, Ross recommends always asking, "Will this technique create layers or remove them?"

Question - 31:

What is cut crease?

Ans:

A supersharp line of shadow drawn across the eye crease to define and accentuate it. It makes eyes look lifted and is, if you care, Kardashian-approved.

View All Answers

Question - 32:

Tell us do you have any thoughts on building clientele?

Ans:

If you are a brand new stylist starting your beauty career the manager does not expect you to come with a clientele. However, if you are in a private salon you will be responsible for building your clientele. I hope you knew this already. Franchise salons are mostly about walk-ins. That doesn't mean you won't have clientele. You will. A client can "request" any stylist they like. As you continue to work there you continue to gather clients that request you. That is your clientele.

View All Answers

Question - 33:

Can you explain what was the best job you ever had? Why?

Ans:

She is wanting to know if what you really enjoy doing is something you will enjoy doing in the salon. If you loved being a number cruncher and sitting at a desk all day you probably won't like being a creative, stand on your feet all day hairdresser. In her eyes, maybe you are not the best suited person for her open chair. However, if you worked at PetSmart and enjoyed running around the store and helping customers with their beloved pets the interviewer could see how those activities could easily translate into beauty career activities.

View All Answers

Question - 34:

Can you tell us how many hours a week do you expect?

Ans:

She needs to know your expectations. She wants someone with unlimited availability, in a perfect world. Not every salon considers 40 hours to be full time. There are some franchises that consider 30 hours full time. I know of one that doesn't want a stylist on the floor over 7 hours in a shift to keep them from burnout. If you absolutely need full time let her know this. Or maybe you can make do with 20 hours a week until you can work your way into full time. But if you only want 20 hours a week it is important you are up front with her. She has to consider hours to make out her schedule. Be truthful with what you need.

View All Answers

Question - 35:

Tell me how do I contour my face?

Ans:

Contouring seems like a daunting task if you've never done it. The reality is it's easier than you may think. The simplest way to understand contouring is to imagine a light over your head. The areas of the face that the light will illuminate are the highlights and the areas cast in shadows are the contours. Finding the right products is easy, and may already be in your makeup collection. Use a foundation or concealer one shade darker than you skintone (the one you purchased after that last beach vacation), or a bronzer can do the trick.

Question - 36:

What is haul?

Ans:

An unceremonious dumping out of your bag of new beauty products followed by a show-and-tell. Some beauty vloggers film this for their audiences, while the rest of us do it just for fun.

View All Answers

Question - 37:

What is collagen?

Ans:

A protein that holds all connective tissue together under the skin. Collagen is sometimes damaged by plucking or electrolysis which can lead to dimpling on the skin. Collagen, from a plant, is also used to fill in scars and augment lips, often with temporary results.

Question - 38:

What is giving life?

Ans:

When makeup looks so good that it gives your life new meaning and helps you get out of bed in the morning. Gigi Hadid, for instance, gives us (and probably Zayn) life on a regular basis.

View All Answers

Question - 39:

What is thinning?

Ans:

Thinning is ideal for those with thick, dense tresses who want to eliminate bulkiness. By relying on thinning shears, the process creates super-fine layers and adds dimension, says Penna. To thin with regular shears, also known as "slithering," stylists slide an open set of scissors along the shaft.

Question - 40:

What is alkaline Perm?

Ans:

A chemical based permanent waving product that has a pH from 7.5 to 9.5. Stronger than acid perms, alkaline perms are designed to produce tight, firm, springy curls rather than the looser curls produced by acid perms.

View All Answers

Question - 41:

What is crop?

Ans:

Originally the word crop was an alternative to haircut, without any specific meaning to the style of the cut. However it has come to be a description of hair that is cut very short with the hair hugging the head.

View All Answers

Question - 42:

What is accent Colour?

Ans:

A sharp, intense colour used as a contrast or pick-up for a colour scheme. It is used to add excitement to an overall effect.

Question - 43:

What is the beatdown or beat face?

Ans:

Makeup application so good that it looks perfect from every angle. A good rule of thumb: If it doesn't give you life, it's not a beat face.

View All Answers

Question - 44:

Tell me how do you communicate with clients who are introverted or shy?

Ans:

I had a new client who wanted her haircut but had trouble communicating what she really wanted. I showed her pictures and gave her time to think it through. I described what I recommended based on her current style and the pictures she showed me. Once we figured out what she needed, I asked her questions to get to know her and told stories I thought she might like. It can be hard to break the ice, but I've learned ways to communicate with even the most shy individuals.

View All Answers

Question - 45:

Tell me what is your greatest weakness as Beauty Parlor Cleaner?

Ans:

Turn a negative into a positive. Don't say anything that will throw up a red flag to the interviewer like, "I have a hard time getting places on time." If a candidate said that to me we would be done with the interview. A salon manager not only needs you at work on time but so do your clients. Don't choose anything that could adversely affect salon life. Things like being too trusting, or being too guarded with your feelings, or taking on too much responsibility are good ones to use that won't work against you.

View All Answers

Question - 46:

Tell me what did you like best about your last job?

Ans:

She wants to know where your attention goes on the job. If you blurt out, "I loved the people I worked with," it would lead her to the idea that you are easy to get along with and a team player.

There is not necessarily a wrong answer here, but there could be a more helpful answer to lead the interviewer in the direction you want them to go. Zero in on the quality you would like to support. In the sample above, being a team player was reinforced. And that's a good one for a salon. If you want to show customer service is important to you maybe say something like, "I enjoyed making people smile when I gave them their morning coffee drink. I feel like I made their day!"

View All Answers

Question - 47:

Tell me what are your greatest strengths as Beauty Parlor Cleaner?

Ans:

Now is your chance to Shine! This is what they really want. They are saying, "PLEASE tell me what you are good at so I can hire you." So tell them!.

Tell them the strengths that will add value to their salon.

If you are a good cook, good for you, but it does nothing for the salon. Write down all of your strong qualities first, then tailor your answer to include your top 3-5.

View All Answers

Question - 48:

Where do you see yourself in 5 years as Beauty Parlor Cleaner?

Ans:

Hiring a new employee is an investment on the part of the salon. It takes time and money to train a new hire. Stylist retention is important to owners. Losing stylists means losing clients. In a way, this question is asking "Are you worth the investment?" That being said, ambition is a virtue.

And again, the only wrong answer is "I don't know."

Tell her how you see your professional life growth, not personal. She doesn't want to hear how you are going to be married with a new house and 2 kids, one boy, one girl.

View All Answers

Question - 49:

As you know sometimes we get involved with a client and have to stay later than scheduled. Would that be a problem for you?

Ans:

There are limits to the questions that can be legally asked in a job interview. An interviewer can't ask you how many kids you have, if you have a car or any other personal questions. But that doesn't mean you should try to hide pertinent information because it will only backfire on you down the road.

You are building a relationship with a manager that you hope to work for. Don't start your beauty career off on the wrong foot. Tell her what she needs to know for the good of the salon.

View All Answers

Question - 50:

What is Holy Grail (HG)?

Ans:

An acronym for Holy Grail that denotes your "holy grail" beauty product, i.e., something so essential to your makeup routine and/or life that you'd rather get run over than see it discontinued.

View All Answers

Question - 51:

Tell us do you have any problems working weekends?

Ans:

No.

You are now a professional stylist and starting your beauty career. You know good and well you now work on weekends. Don't even try it.

Question - 54:

Tell us who was the best boss you ever had? Why?

Ans:

The answer you give will reflect the lens in which you see your management. She is wondering what you consider a good boss and if your views on management are something that will make her job easier or harder.

Think carefully. Don't choose the one that let the employees get away with anything!

Choose a boss that had positive qualities and provided strong leadership.

View All Answers

Question - 55:

Can you tell us what was the worst job you ever had? Why?

Ans:

This is similar to the other question about what you liked least. To use the example from the last question, go in the opposite direction of salon activities. Since you will be up and active all day you could choose a job you had where you had to sit all day. Or you could choose one that was boring and didn't engage your interest.

I once worked as a receptionist in a dental office. It was difficult for me to stay put all day because I am much happier in a fast paced environment.

View All Answers

Question - 56:

Tell us why do you want to work for us? or Why do you want this job?

Ans:

They are looking for your motivation here. Are you driven by your passion? OR...Are you looking for a place to just get a paycheck? If you love your work you would be an asset to the salon. If you are just trying to find a job anywhere there is no indication to a manager that you are a good fit on her team. Show them that your values, desires, passion and the direction you intend to take your beauty career are in line with the salon culture. For example, Paige is passionate about hairstyling and updo's. Her resume will state this. Going to work in a male grooming salon would not be a good fit for her and the salon manager would recognize that Paige probably wouldn't feel fulfillment only working on men. If she were to hire Paige she knows that Paige most likely won't stay long.

Question - 57:

What is cuticles?

Ans:

The hair cuticles form a protective layer which covers the shaft of the hair. If your hair is coloured or bleached they can spread out, split or become bloated due to over processing.

Question - 58:

What is blonde Hair?

Ans:

Is not as visible and harder to treat. Lasers have limited effects on blonde hair because of its lack of pigment, and it is difficult to see against the skin.

Question - 59:

What means graduated Hair (or Stacked Haircut)?

Ans:

A graduated cut involves layers, which for the hairstylist, means cutting at an angle of less than 90 degree. Thanks to this technique, there is more control for stylists to shape the desired outline of a cut. "With this look, the layers stack closely on top of another, often adding a bit of needed bulk or weight to the style in specific areas," adds Penna.

Question - 62:

Can you tell me how do I get rid of wrinkles?

Ans:

Makeup is magical. It can help conceal imperfections, but it's not the answer to every beauty issue. Being educated on the right skincare routine is important to maintain your skin. Great makeup starts with great skin, so make sure to stock up on moisturizers that contain retinol for anti aging and hyaluronic acid for intense moisture.

Question - 63:

Explain me about your experience styling hair?

Ans:

I went to school for cosmetology for 4 years and interned at one of the top salons in the NYC area. I have worked with clients privately for events and have gained 5 years experience in the salon I currently work with.

View All Answers

Question - 64:

Can you explain what are you passionate about?

Ans:

Just keep it about salon life and on a professional level. Stay away from answers like, "I can't get enough of Kim," or "Oh I love Facebook." Instead go with, "I love everything about color! I'm always on YouTube looking for fresh new looks and trying them on my friends." She is thinking, "That's great. I need a new stylist that wants to become a master colorist. Money, money, money."

View All Answers

Question - 65:

Tell us do you consider yourself a team player?

Ans:

Being a team player in a salon is a strength. Everyone is there to make money, for themselves and for the salon. It takes a village. If you are highly self absorbed by nature start working on that issue. You will need help in a salon and you will be called upon to help others. So if this question is asked and you are NOT a team player, meaning you prefer to work alone, fake it.

I'm not saying lie to the interviewer but you need them to know you ARE a team player. Saying you prefer to work alone in a salon environment will disqualify you. So YES, you are a team player, and you will consciously work on it in the salon. Think of a time when you worked as a team on any project. Write it in your notebook with an example of how you helped the team, just in case you are asked for one. Your beauty career will mostly be a team sport.

Question - 72:

Tell us how do I pick the perfect red lipstick?

Ans:

Women are always on the prowl for this. Choose cooler "true" red tones with a bit of blue if you have pink in your skin or are super fair-skinned. A warmer orange-red tone works best for olive-skinned women

Question - 73:

Tell me how do you feel about selling Professional Product?

Ans:

I know that professional product sales are vital to the life of the salon. Without product our clients (use the word "our" to plant the seed you are a part of her team) can't recreate the awesome looks we give them in the salon. Product sales also increase client retention. I prefer the "education" method rather than hard selling. I educate throughout the service, showing them how the products benefit their specific needs.

Question - 74:

Tell us who was the worst boss you ever had? Why?

Ans:

OOOh, trick question again. Remember we don't want to bash former employers. The interviewer knows if you talk bad about someone to her, then you may talk bad about her one day.

So how do we handle this one?

You could say, "I've never had a really bad boss, but I have learned some things NOT to do." This way you are not directly pointing the finger while still acknowledging you are aware not everyone is a good manager.

Question - 75:

Tell us why should we hire you as Beauty Parlor Cleaner?

Ans:

Boy, that's a toughie, isn't it? It would be really easy to stammer through a stupid answer in an interview. What they are really asking you is "Why is it in our best interest to have you working for us?" So tell them. An interview is no place to be shy. Tell them How you will be an asset to the salon.

Because I have a strong work ethic, I'm great at time management, I understand the importance of superior customer service and I am willing to do everything I can to help the salon and myself grow.
